NEWS

Dr. Nancy Pike was recognized at the 39th National Association of Pediatric Nurse Practitioner (NAPNAP) Conference.

Dr. Nancy Pike was the winner of the Association of Faculties of Pediatric Nurse Practitioner 2018 Outstanding Researcher of the Year Award at this year's NAPNAP Conference.

She was also selected to present one of the top three oral abstracts, which was titled: "Reduced Hippocampal Volume is Associated with Mood and Memory Deficits in Adolescents with Single Ventricle Heart Disease."

The UCLA School of Nursing goes to DC.

Several students attended the AACN 2018 Student Policy Summit in Washington DC. They joined Dean Linda Sarna on AACN Day on the Hill, visiting the offices of California Senators Diane Feinstein and Kamala Harris.

The UCLA School of Nursing is getting a facelift.

As part of our ongoing work to transform the Factor Building, we recently repainted our stairwell doors to encourage a more active lifestyle! This is one of the improvements we are making to the school in preparation of our 70th anniversary, and we are excited to move forward with our Walls of Art, Walls of Science, and Walls of History.

The UCLA School of Nursing celebrates its exceptional students and recognizes its generous supporters.

On April 4, over 70 students and donors attended the School's Scholarship Appreciation Lunch at the UCLA Luskin Conference Center. Student representatives from each program spoke about the importance of scholarship support, and the donors and representatives present were recognized for their support.

Alpha Tau Delta celebrates their 90th birthday.

On April 7, Alpha Tau Delta (ATD) celebrated their 90th anniversary. At this event, students received scholarships, new board members were introduced, and Dean Linda Sarna was inducted as an honorary member of ATD. In addition, Ada Lindsey - the fourth Dean of the UCLA School of Nursing (pictured) - attended and reconnected with many alumni and faculty.
